Monsanto Forest Park exists for more than 70 years, occupying an area of about 1000 hectares, in urban soil. It is equipped with infrastructures for recreation, sports, environmental and cultural activities, in order to provide pleasant moments to citizens and visitors in their leisure time. When it was created, the area was almost totally treeless, having started planting in 1940. Today, the care taken in preserving the forest has allowed the National Forest Authority (NFA) to classify various forest stands.

 - Management of the Park
 - Maintenance of Green Areas
 - Municipal Police: forest guards
- Financial: city council
- Legal frame: Forestry regime and Lisbon Master Plan
- Warranties of Future: come from Public participation and the public eyes on its management
- There are no formal regional institutions with decision capacity on the territory but the other councils have their eyes on Monsanto park and usually our activities soon get spread to the neighbour councils
